Eco Summit

Agnes and Nico, two of our Eco Council students attended an Eco Summit, organised by the Crofty MAT, at Pennoweth School last week. It was a great event that brought together Eco Council students from 16 schools.

Several companies attended to present their organisation's intentions about becoming more energy efficient. Chartwells demonstrated what to do with fruit and vegetables that may usually be discarded due to being misshaped or "past their best". Two student teams were formed, and they both made stir fries and another team made cheesecake using spoiled milk and vinegar and then flavoured it with strawberries that might otherwise have been thrown away.

Agnes and Nico had a lovely day, and both said they had enjoyed meeting Eco Council students from the other schools. Both pupils had lots to say during and after their experience and were both given gift bags that contained a notebook, a pencil, a bamboo straw and toothbrush and a t-shirt.

Paid School Meals—September

We have been notified by Chartwells that they will be increasing the price for school dinners from 1st September 2023 to £2.66.

Attendance

Well done to Study Zone for winning the attendance for this term.

Last week of Term

Just a reminder as from the 17th July there will be no wrap around club or Nursery due to the major building works. Pick up and drop off will be at Plovers field (top end of field). Please ensure your children use the toilet before coming to school for the trips as we will not have access to those in school.

Dates for the Diary:

The book starts off with an ordinary boy who finds out that he has supernatural powers. I like this book since it has great humour, challenging vocabulary and interesting plot twists with the different quests that Percy goes on. I would recommend this book to children age 10 and above because of its challenging vocabulary
